Are any members on this application also applying on another team to CTSP this cycle?

Yes—If yes, which members? Please list:

No

Deliverables Please clearly articulate the deliverables of this project and their projected timeline. For more academically-oriented proposals, we understand paper timelines may exceed the fellow tenure. In cases like this, deliverables may include submission dates, posting drafts to online repositories, sending CTSP a draft of your submitted manuscript, etc.

Project Title:

CLTC Eligibility

Additional proposals will be funded as joint CTSP-Center for Long-Term Cybersecurity (CLTC) fellows. CLTC is committed to pushing the boundaries of technology, social science, and humanities to positively influence how individuals, organizations, and governments deal with cybersecurity. The conceptual and practical aspects of the term ‘cybersecurity’ are evolving rapidly, as what we mean by ‘cyber’ and ‘security’ is changing in ways that would have been almost unimaginable a few years ago. CLTC believes that a transformative cybersecurity research program should not only address the most interesting and complex challenges of today’s socio-technical security environment, but also grapple with the broader challenges of the next decade’s environment.

In order to be considered, your proposal must be broadly related to forward looking cybersecurity challenges, however this does not mean it must fit neatly into what has been considered “cybersecurity” research in the past. The center welcomes applications related to security, privacy, usability, societal impact, political implications, etc.
